Below, a Jap gunner lies beside his wrecked cannon, one of the many silenced by heavy U. S. artillery and air bombardment. ## The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

IT would be easy to set a lot of mischievous hobgoblins to dancing by speculation over the mysterious replacement of Maxim Litvinoff as Soviet ambassador to the United States, but at the same time it would be a mistake to brush aside such an important development for fear of examining it.

The fact that the unexplained shift of Litvinoff has put in motion a storm of speculation not only in the United States but in Germany is in itself proof that the event has some peculiar significance.

This thought is supported by the circumstance of Litvinoff's transfer on the heels of similar action in respect to Ivan Maisky, Russian ambassador in London, who has been called back to Moscow without explanation. These two famous diplomats have been the ranking members of Russia's ambassadorial service.

Allied newspapers and observers, looking at the puzzle from every angle, have found the event disquieting. The Hitlerites, trying to squeeze as much juice out of this turnip as possible, have bragged about a row in the enemy camp.

At the same time the Nazis have made an admission which is worth our earnest consideration. That is that all the Big Three—the United States, Britain and Russia—remain hostile to Nazism.

There is no row in the Allied camp, and the Russians are out to crush Hitlerism. However, the widespread speculation and uneasiness in Britain and this country would seem to point clearly to one thing: There is a lack of complete understanding between the

Japs Retreat Before Allies At Salamaua

(By Associated Press)
Allied siege guns blasted the Japanese stronghold at Salamaua in New Guinea today as enemy troops retreated deeper into their last circle of defenses, and dispatches from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said the fall of the big air base appeared almost within sight.

From newly captured ridge positions, American and Australian gunners turned their fire on the enemy at a range of only two miles, and Allied troops moved up all along the semi-circular front.

Meanwhile, United Nations military chiefs agreed that the bloodless conquest of Kiska in the Aleutians had placed the Allies on the shortest route to Tokyo.

"The Jap is on the run," said Lieut. Gen. John L. DeWitt, commander of the Western Defense Command.

"The Jap navy is in hiding, dispersed. The reoccupation of Kiska has cleared our shortest highway to the Japanese empire."

BELOIT WOMAN MISHAP VICTIM

Mrs. Ida Warrington, 83, Killed In Route 62 Traffic Accident Sunday

An 83-year-old Beloit woman died as the result of a two-car collision Sunday on Route 62, five miles east of Alliance.

Mrs. Ida Warrington of R. D. 2, Beloit, a passenger in a car driven by John Dorsey Walker, 67, of Scribner, died of shock when the Walker car was struck from the rear by a machine operated by Jesse James Carter of Alliance.

The accident occurred at 12:23 a. m. Sunday when the Walker car, traveling west, pulled to the right and stopped, waiting to make a left-hand turn into a private drive.

Mrs. Warrington was taken to the Alliance City hospital where she was pronounced dead.

Mrs. Estella Walker, wife of the driver, and her husband suffered minor injuries. Another passenger, Mrs. Clifford Israel of R. D. 2, Beloit, riding in the back seat with Mrs. Warrington, suffered shock.

Verdict Withheld

The accident is still being investigated by state highway patrolmen and the Mahoning county coroner.

Funeral service for Mrs. Warrington will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Cassaday & Turkle parlors in Alliance, in charge of Rev. Rue Bursell, pastor of the Westville Christian church. Burial will be in Mount Union cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesday.

A lifelong resident of the vicinity, she was born near Alliance April 15, 1850. She was a member of the Westville W. C. T. U., the Loyal Workers Farm Women's club, the Westville Community club, and the Fairmount Literary club and was an honorary member of the Fairmount grange.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. C. W. Hollis of R. D. 2, Beloit, and Mrs. Bertha Miller of R. D. 3, Alliance; six grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Boat Is Launched
CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—The 303-foot frigate U.S.S. Guilford was launched at the American Ship Building Co. yards yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Spreading out from recaptured Kiska, Canadian and American troops have seized the little island of Segula and are consolidating positions on Kiska and in the adjacent Aleutian area.

Similar expressions broadly hinting that the Allies may be poised to strike heavy blows against Japan came from Vice-Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, commander in the North Pacific, and Maj. Gen. William O. Butler, commander of the 11th Army Air Force.

Road to Japan Open

"We have completed our northern road to Japan," Admiral Kinkaid said.

"Our chain of air and naval bases will protect our surface vessels and shipping units, two-thirds of the way to Tokyo."

Gen. Butler declared the way was now open for the operation of a multiple-jawed pincer closing on the enemy in the Pacific.

DeWitt expressed the belief the Japanese completed their withdrawal on Aug. 8, escaping in submarines or barges, and added that he thought it doubtful many ever reached land.

The American task force landing on Kiska Aug. 15 found the enemy had fled and took undisputed possession.

Kinkaid said U. S. surface craft shelled "objects" in the fog at night "after the Japanese began their evacuation of Kiska," and added that "we believe we sank some of their ships, but this cannot be confirmed."

This was the first indication that the Japanese may have been attacked in their flight—a flight which marked the first time they had abandoned the Samurai warrior code and failed to stand their ground to the death.

A Tokyo broadcast, unconfirmed by Allied sources, asserted that Japanese troops defending Kolombangara island, a few miles north of New Georgia, "foiled landing attempts by United States forces at dawn yesterday."

The broadcast said the landing attempt was made by about 15 barges and torpedo boats.

BEARDMORE GLADS WIN MORE PRIZES

In addition, they exhibited the best Canadian gladiolus in the exhibition, "Larime," an orange gladiolus with red throats, was ruled the second day champion and "Grand Opera," with a flared measuring seven and seven-eighths inches, was declared the largest.

S. prisoners of war, being sent by those persons who already have received authorization labels, must have the gifts in New York by midnight, Aug. 27, to make the advanced sailing of the U. S.S. ## T. V. SOONG AT CONFERENCE IN QUEBEC TODAY

Chinese Minister's Arrival Hints of New Offensive In Far East

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
QUEBEC, Aug. 23.—The belated arrival of Chinese Foreign Minister T. V. Soong at the Quebec war council suggested today that decisions had been made to build up air squadrons in China to bomb enemy life lines in the China sea and the Japanese mainland itself.

Soong flew in from Washington late yesterday, at the request of President Roosevelt. Presidential Secretary Stephen Early emphasized that his discussions with the chief executive and Prime Minister Churchill of Britain "will have to do with the plans for the war on Japan."

Pure logic, and these additional facts, also weighed in favor of an agreement to wreck the enemy supply route in the China sea and give Japan a sample of the destruction already heaped on ports and industrial cities of Germany:

1. President Roosevelt has proclaimed publicly the determination of the Allies to send up aerial armadas from China to scourge the Japanese.
2. China is known to have asked that the bomber force now operating in her eastern zone be increased perhaps 10 times for exactly that purpose.
3. A resurvey of air transport facilities operating out of India is said to have shown it would be possible to supply and service three to four times the number of bombers recently in eastern China.
4. If the war is to be brought to bear on Japan itself, she is most vulnerable to attacks from the west, where heavy bombers can make the ground trip from China.
5. The blasting of Japanese shipping out of the China sea would soften the enemy's resistance all around her defense perimeter and help cripple war industries at home.
6. Secretary of the Navy Knox, whose main interest is in the Pacific war theaters, where Navy men for the most part are in command, arrives today on the scene of the Quebec conference.
7. Soong was brought to Quebec for a purpose, and obviously he would not have been invited to participate in discussions with Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill on the next to the last day of the conference if they merely had bad news for him or if any far-reaching decisions on the conduct of the war in the Pacific remained on the agenda.

Conference business had been cleared away to the point where 250 of the participants, including at least some chiefs of staff, took a 24-hour boat trip on the St. Lawrence and Saguenay rivers, returning here last night.

The Republicans have a complete ticket, headed by Mayor Robert H. Johnson, seeking a second term, and the Democrats a lone candidate, Councilman Charles A. Cavanaugh, running for re-election.

The two tickets were nominated under the "no contest" law which eliminated the Aug. 10 primary election.

Amputates Own Arm With Knife After Farm Mishap

WATERLOO, Ia., Aug. 23.—Leslie Olson, 32, working alone on his farm near here, took out his pocket knife and cut his right arm off at the elbow when it was shredded and locked in the machinery of a hay baler.

Then he shut off the baler and tractor and walked half a mile to the home of a neighbor. Hospital attendants said his amputation was good. Doctors later amputated the arm again, at the shoulder.

"It didn't hurt because it happened so suddenly," Olson related. "All I thought of was the quickest way to get out of there. I'm going to keep right on farming. This can't stop me."

Olson's wife is in the same hospital, where she gave birth to a boy last Tuesday. They have another boy, Gerry Dean, 3.

"My wife took it like a trooper," the farmer declared.

FSA Farm Holdings In Ohio Being Sold

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—The federal government has disposed of most of its farm holdings in Ohio and will sell the rest by the end of the year, the Farm Security administration announced today.

A. L. Sorensen, state FSA director, reported 30 of 107 tenants on the 7,416-acre Scioto farms project in Ross, Pickaway, Fayette and Madison counties had purchased the land they farm. 50 others were arranging to buy their farms and the rest should be sold by the end of the year.

Many of the families acquiring land of their own have been tenants since the project was established six years ago. Only a few of those now on the land were denied the opportunity to purchase it.

Sorensen said, while some of those who will not remain on the farms are elderly persons who would be unable to pay for the land during their normal life expectancy, FSA is liquidating such projects throughout the nation on the recommendation of Congress, Sorensen reported.

Ukraine City Passes Into Reds' Hands

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Germans admitted today the loss of Kharkov, their greatest position in the south of Russia, in what appeared to be a general retreat.

The fall of the city was presented by DNB, German news agency, as an evacuation in which Russian pressure had no part. In a broadcast announcing withdrawal from the base, DNB said Kharkov was no longer a "valuable center of traffic and supply" and declared all important installations had been destroyed by the Nazis before they pulled out.

Kharkov, the great industrial center in the Ukraine, was last recaptured by the Russians in February and lost by them again in March.

Violent Fighting Reported

Russia broadcasts and reports from the Germans themselves indicated violent fighting west of the city now rising toward perhaps some fateful conclusions.

The Russians have declared that German commanders were to hard-pressed they were throwing new formations into the battle line at the moment of their arrival and without rest.

The Soviet war bulletin said the Red Army also had pushed forward as Spas Dementuk and Bryansk in the north as well as in the Donets basin, killing 9,500 Nazis, smashing 187 tanks and destroying 53 planes in aerial combats or by anti-aircraft fire.

The heavy German losses announced by the Russians in fighting during the last two days served to point up Saturday night's special communique which announced that at least 1,000,000 Nazis have been killed or wounded since July 5.

The special communique added that in addition to the huge casualties they had inflicted the Russians had captured 25,600 Nazi troops and huge stocks of war materials.

Salerno Hit BY AIRMEN IN LATEST RAID

(By Associated Press)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 23.—The mighty Allied aerial juggernaut rolled over Salerno, another important point in the Italian mainland railroad system, virtually smashing the city in day and night raids and leaving marauding yards a sea of flame, headquarters announced today.

Salerno is on the coast south of Naples, around which Allied heavy and medium bombers left a trail of ruin at railway centers in raids Friday and Saturday.

In the Salerno raids, American Marauders battled their way through increasingly strong fighter opposition. Flying with escort, they shot down 28 of the enemy.

The German air force was reported to have put nearly 100 fighters into the sky.

In the heavy air fighting of the past four days, 109 enemy planes have been downed, it was announced officially. The Marauder squadrons in Sunday raids destroyed 28, topping the 22 shot down by these bombers Saturday in the Naples area.

Bricker and Party Will Fly Out West In Keener's Plane

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—Gov. John W. Bricker and his party will leave by plane tomorrow for that already-announced Wyoming fishing trip, his office said today.

With him will be his son, Jack; Secretary Don Power, and Sam Keener, Salem industrialist. The trip will be made in Keener's private plane, which will fly direct to Spearfish, S. D.

There the party will be met by Neil Smith, former Wyoming governor and a state Republican leader, who, with Keener, owns a ranch just across the line in Wyoming.

Joining the Bricker party at the ranch, Power said today, will be Alfred Landon of Kansas, 1936 Republican presidential nominee; Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska; Gov. John Vivian of Colorado, and "some others." Power did not say whether the "others" would include additional governors.

Bricker is expected to return to Ohio late in the week.

Reporters asked Power if the trip had any political significance. Power replied:

"If there are no politics discussed, it is a long way to go to catch fish."

Sheriff Probes Chicken Thefts In Lisbon Area

LISBON, Aug. 23.—Arthur Wise, director of music in the schools here, reported to the sheriff's office this morning the theft of 150 chickens from his farm on the Logtown rd., two miles northwest of Lisbon. The theft occurred, Wise believes, Saturday night while he and his family were in Lisbon.

The theft is the third in that district in a week. Friday night 30 or more chickens were taken from the H. C. Kelch farm, and Charles Hanna reported the loss of about 70 earlier last week.

Report Nazis Block Italy's Peace Moves

(By Associated Press)
BERN, Aug. 23.—An open admission that Italian efforts to withdraw from the war are being blocked by German pressure on the Badoglio government was contained in the Italian press for the first time during the weekend.

A Swiss telegraph agency dispatched a "clearly stating that the first aim of the Badoglio government is to remove the country from war, but Rome is seeking to prevent the peninsula from becoming the theater of a gigantic battle among the Germans there and the Anglo-Saxons threatening to enter."

This theme, it was said, also was set forth at conferences held by Minister of Industry Leopoldo Pirelli with workers in heavily-bombed Milan, Turin and Genoa, who were told that the people's wish for peace has been blocked by "enormous difficulties."

(From Madrid came word that Rome dispatches indicated that the Italians do not intend to resist Allied invasion but will not oppose German resistance because they feel that conflict with the Germans would result in larger loss of life and property than remaining aloof.)

E. Liverpool Men Among European War Victims

Listed by a War department bulletin today as missing in action in the European theater is Pvt. George H. Orin, son of Mrs. Isma P. Morley of R. D. 2, East Liverpool. He was one of 14 Ohio officers and men reported missing in that area.

Pvt. Alton C. Ehrhart, son of Clarence Alton Ehrhart, has been reported as wounded in action in the European area, according to the War department.

AFTER FOUR YEARS OF WAR

The end of this month marks completion of four years of World War II and Germany is definitely on the decline just as she was after four years in the first World War. The German decline in 1918 began when her armies were stopped cold in France; this time her most damaging defeats began when another drive was stopped and rolled back at Stalingrad.

Some comparisons are striking. In 1918 Russia had been knocked out of the war and this time France is out—a good trade for our side as events have shown. Then Japan was a nominal but inactive enemy of Germany and now she is a powerful ally. Germany gained little by conquest 25 years ago but now her loot is tremendously valuable in prosecuting the war. Germany has gained as allies Rumania and Finland but she has lost Turkey.

The first was a one front war after the collapse of the Russian armies. This time both sides have had to divide their forces, the United Nations against Germany in Europe and Japan in the Pacific and Germany against Russia in the East and the United Nations everywhere around the whole edge of Europe.

In both wars, Germany's prospects were good until her rulers dragged the United States into the conflict but there is an important difference. In 1917 this country was wholly unprepared but in 1941 she had been getting ready for two years.

Military authorities incline to the belief that in both wars victory was in sight for the Germans and was thrown away by blunders on the part of their leaders. In the first the Germans withdrew from the first battle of the Marne when they were in a position to advance. In the second they stopped at Dunkirk when it was now revealed that England, 20 miles away, was wide open for invasion with the British spirit as its only battlement.

The summary shows the situation is one that calls for confidence but not for complacency. Germany is not yet knocked out and after that there remains a tough enemy in the Pacific. Much fighting is ahead but the comparison of these four year periods gives us the best side of the balance sheet.

JAPAN REACHED TOO FAR

The map shows one of the reasons why the Japanese are running into so much trouble everywhere in the southwest Pacific. They reached out until their supply lines were stretched too far.

New Guinea is still much closer to Japan than to the United States mainland but it is still 3,000 miles away with every mile becoming increasingly difficult and dangerous as the United Nations build up their air and sea supremacy.

Here is a case where the enemy's fanatical fighting spirit is to the distinct advantage of our side. The Japs move to New Guinea and the surrounding islands because they planned to use them in an attack on Australia. The chance for such a move is gone forever but the Japanese have such a frenzied determination to "save face" that they will not admit it by retreating to places where they might do themselves more good at less cost.

The result is that out side has a golden opportunity to whittle down the enemy in ships, planes and men. The more reinforcements we can force them to send to their sorely battered forces, the better will be our score.

Had the Japs stopped when they had taken the rich Dutch East Indies they would have been in a much stronger position. Their mistake in reaching out toward New Guinea and the Solomons, worthless to the Japs except as a possible point for further attack, has been their most costly one in the war. It has given us a chance to cut them down steadily, it has occupied great quantities of shipping which might have been used in building up defense elsewhere and it has given us fairly important minor victories while we were getting ready for the big push.

CLOSE TO THEIR VESTS

Don't expect any dramatic declarations to come out of Quebec. President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill are too skillful in the game of war and diplomacy to tip off their hand until the last card has been played.

They will issue other statements like the first one which said their plan is to "bomb, burn and ruthlessly destroy" both Germany and Japan. This is no news either to us or to the enemy.

The real topics of conversation in the historic citadel are secrets known to only a handful of men and upon them depends, in large part, the future of the world. The enemy will know these decisions only when they are translated into action.

The mere fact that these world leaders are together is big news. The whole world knows fairly well what they are talking about but the experienced press correspondents don't get excited over the prospects of any startling pronouncements. They know that the men in this biggest game in all history are playing their cards close to their vests and will take no chances that anybody may be peeking over their shoulders. Knowing that they hold the winning hands, they will wait until the stakes are on the table before they take part in a showdown.

HE CHANGED HISTORY

A slender, quiet man observed his 72nd birthday almost unnoticed in Dayton last week. He is Orville Wright—who, with his brother, invented the first airplane to fly carrying a pilot. He spent his birthday in his shop, working on an invention for the improvement of aviation.

It was Dec. 17 at Kitty Hawk, N. C., that the Wrights flew for 59 seconds at a speed of 30 miles an hour in a plane that weighed 750 pounds including the pilot.

Results of that first flight stagger the imagination. Cities are in ruins, hundreds of thousands are dead and the whole course of history is changed because, on that strip of sandy beach, man found his wings.

The little grey septuagenarian in Dayton did more to change the history of the world than Caesar, or Hannibal or Napoleon or any of the others who lived and died in pomp and circumstance he never sought or accepted.

PASS THE SUGAR NOW

If, as has been hinted, the government is going to increase the nation's sugar ration, now is the time to do it.

The canning season is passing rapidly and unless more sugar is available at once it won't do much good. The government has taken much of the canned fruit and all of the dried fruit for the armed services and civilians must rely principally on their home-packed product.

It won't make housewives happy if the allowance is increased after it's too late for anything but hard winter pears and applesauce of which there never seems to be a shortage.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are admonished to handle impending affairs with complete preparation and discretion, as future development depends on present wise steps. This may affect the future stability and happiness and business as well as social, domestic and affectional security. With proper attention to details, with astute and clever management, enduring good fortune should accrue. Be not carried away by excess, excitement and turbulence. Keep poised and calm.

A child born on this day may have an ardent and enterprising spirit, with much initiative and temperament. While serious and sensitive it may have a difficult nature to curb.

The OPA is quoted as saying: "The farmer thinks only of profit." That is absolutely false. The farmer thinks of patriotism just as zealously as does anyone else.

Poor Diet a Cause of Decay In Teeth

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE FAMILY dentist of a generation ago was perfectly certain that a decayed tooth was caused by the entrance of germs into a small defect in the enamel of the tooth. A generation ago the dentist was just in the full flush of the great new science of bacteriology which had opened a whole vista of explanations for the cause of disease—germs were the offenders and all you had to do was to such diligently enough and the culprit would be revealed.

Germs explained everything, and the dental profession, which has always showed an equal alertness with the medical profession in fresh discoveries, shared the enthusiasm of those great days of the new science. And since they were able to culture germs from the cavities of all decayed teeth, the germ explanation was a perfectly natural one.

But as time went on and the new science of bacteriology began to strain a little at the seams, people asked some questions that it was not quite capable of answering.

Causes of Soft Teeth
Germs caused dental caries all right, but why, for instance, did the Jones family have so much of it and the Smith family right next door have none? Both are exposed to germs. Even more peculiar, why does a dentist in one little town see caries in nearly all his patients and the dentist in a neighboring town, a man who is professionally equally as alert as his colleague, hardly ever see it at all?

This is to raise the old phrase about the seed and the soil. Some teeth are hard and resistant to infection and others make fertile ground.

The answer that has been receiving more and more universal acclaim is that the food and nutrition of the individual make his teeth hard and resistant. I have before me the statement from a leading teacher of dentistry who says, "Caries (i. e., dental decay) can be prevented and arrested by dietary measures alone." And another goes so far as to say that he can go into a dental clinic and tell the condition of the dairy herds in that community simply by examining the children's teeth.

Diet and Teeth

Milk that has a good content of calcium and phosphorus, for these chemicals are the basis of tooth structure; a country where there are many days of sunshine so that the children can have sun baths and store up a good supply of vitamins D, plenty of orange juice or lemonade or limeade to give them vitamin C; vegetables which supply the B vitamin group, such as beans and peas, whole wheat bread, cream cheese, butter, eggs—all these supplied in the daily food menus assure a populace with strong teeth.

Not only is tooth health or caries a sign of the up-to-dateness of the dairy and farming activity of a community, but the teeth are to this extent an extremely good index to the general health of the individual. A professor in a dental college showed me an astonishing case the other day—a child who was sent to the dental clinic by an orthopedic surgeon because she kept having broken bones so often. He wanted the dentist to correct her diet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

D. R.:—What is a varicocele? And is it curable?
Answer: A varicocele is a group of varicose veins in the scrotum. It is readily cured by surgery.

G. J. B.:—Should a person inclined to have high blood pressure do heavy work and vigorous exercises? Would losing weight bring blood pressure down to normal?

Answer: It seems to me common sense answers the first part of the question—"No." Work and exercise increase the blood pressure. You can blow the head off any machine by raising the pressure high enough. Reducing weight helps the general condition, but does not materially affect the pressure itself.

Lisbon Soldier In Battle of Sicily Wins Decoration

LISBON, Aug. 23 — Technician John Pope, Jr., of Co. F, 41st Armored Infantry regiment, which has been in the thick of the fight in Sicily, today wears a silver star, the first Lisbon soldier to be decorated in action against the enemy.

Pope was awarded the silver star for his courage and devotion to duty, even against odds, while in active battle July 13, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pope, Sr., E. Washington st., were advised today in special communication from Brig. Gen. Rose, in command of the armored division.

On July 15, while in active battle in Sicily, Gen. Rose said, Tech. Pope, while manning a 50-calibre machinegun in an armored infantry column of vehicles on a road north of Gancicatti, Sicily, saw a flight of Messerschmitt 109F planes strafe and dive bomb the column out of range of his gun.

"Knowing that the mechanical limitations of his gun might cause it to jam and having been authorized to take cover in circumstances where the planes are out of range of his weapon, he courageously remained at his post alone, and as the planes came over, suddenly wheeling and flying at a very low altitude directly at his gun and strafing at an altitude of less than 20 feet, he opened and maintained fire until the planes were driven off," the general said.

"The courage and devotion to duty displayed by your son, Tech. John Pope, in protecting the personnel and vehicles of the column reflect great credit upon himself and the command, and are deserving of the highest praise."

SYNOPSIS

The South American jungle was awakening when the injured red-haired man regained consciousness. With great effort, he followed the tracks leading back into the jungle until he sighted the clearing where his enemies were encamped—with Spud, his wounded pal, their prisoner. Cautiously he waited until three of the men rode off—then he attacked and subdued the remaining two. Assuming the semi-conscious Spud that their map was safe, he started up the jungle trail and for hours plodded through the tangled foliage, momentarily expecting to be overtaken by their enemies. Drew, carrying his unconscious friend, was near exhaustion when he sighted the Planet Export Corporation Hospital. A beautiful dark-haired girl, garbed in nurse's uniform, came to their aid. Drew, aware that the men who attacked them were Planet employees, realizes they have blundered into the one place they should have avoided. He collapses and later in his hospital room, he and Gloria Diaz, the attractive nurse, recall meeting each other at a recent party. He overhears two men outside his room angrily discussing him and Spud—then Gloria closes the door.

CHAPTER FOUR

Watching her make a notation on the card, resentment gathered within him. As a human being he did not exist for Gloria Diaz. He was just a patient—just something with a pulse and blood pressure to make notes about. Well, why not? He was lucky to be a patient, lucky not to be out by the water hole with that vulture. Yet the resentment lingered. He raised his eyes and saw she was smiling at him. His cheeks flushed.

She made a little face. "Spoiled baby." Again he caught the trace of a smile, and the way her lips had of dwelling on certain words.

She sat down beside the bed.

"What happened to you back in the jungle?"

He told her the story of his capture and escape.

She listened intently, her eyes fixed on him.

"You're sure there's no danger?"

"I'm sure," he said.

"Can we go back tomorrow?"

"The doctor shook his head. 'Tomorrow you yourself will be as good as dead, but your companion—no. He must remain a day or two longer.'"

"Can we go back tomorrow?"

What had happened! The question brought a surge of pent-up memories. They came with a rush now—the rifle camp, the long pursuit. As if stung with a whip, Thorpe straightened.

"The yellow!" He raised a clenched hand, but she held him, forced him back, and he lay with tight lips until the paroxysm passed. He mustn't do that again. Better get his story straight and see how it sounded.

"We were hunting tigre," he said more quietly. "Bandits rifled the camp while I was away and took Spud with them. I trailed them and got Spud away. Most of the time I had to carry him."

"How long did it take you?"

"Since early morning. I didn't break any travel records. That boy's plenty heavy."

Her eyes passed over the powerful frame outlined beneath the sheet. "Dios, only a very strong man could have made it."

"A big king vulture went along with us, betting I couldn't make it. He helped a lot. Every time I thought I was licked he stepped up, and I'd get mad and go on again. Drew ran the back of his hand over his stubble beard. 'I'll bet I look like the House of David.'"

"You look like what you are—a big, spoiled baby."

"I can think of worse fates as long as you're the nurse."

This time they smiled together. Yes, there was a great deal of the boy that smiled up at her from among the pillows—a boy who refused to be very much impressed by the seriousness or importance of life. The red hair, freckled face, and wide blue eyes all had a way of taking the world for granted, as if he suspected there was a great deal of a joke in this matter of human living.

But now the eyes had clouded. "Isn't it about time those X-ray pictures were finished?" he asked. "I've got to know how Spud's making it."

"He's in good hands."

"That's not enough. I want to know how he is."

Comprehending his anxiety, she rose. "I'll get my father. He'll tell you."

"Your father?"

"My father is Dr. Hernandez Diaz."

Thorpe's eyes widened. He had been stupid. He should have guessed the relationship between this young nurse and the best-known physician in South America. For twenty years along the coast and as far inland as the capital, in oil camps, banana plantations, and back on the remotest cañon, men knew of Hernandez Diaz. Born in one of the powerful old Castilian families, Diaz as a young man had been faced with the usual alternative of being a priest or a diplomat. "Here we have priests enough for our souls, and far too many politicians for our country's good," he had said. "But who thinks of our body?" That will be my task. So he had gone to the States and come back with a medical degree and an unswerving intention to help his country.

Thanks to family connections, he was able to find hospital backing to establish a hospital on the foothills above the coast, high enough to be cool at night and free from fever. There, through revolutions, famine, and civil wars, beset by prejudice, hampered by politics, he had fought a lifetime fight against disease. His fame spread to the north and south; in Europe he was well known for his malarial technique, and physicians came from distant countries to study with him in his jungle hospital.

There in his native country, men known him as the Healer. They came to him over the trails and up from the seacoast; back in the villages the Indians touched him as he passed, hoping to gain for themselves some of the virtues that he possessed. He had received many honorary degrees. He had declined tempting offers to teach. For the past eight years he had served as senator, and during one term had held the office of Minister of Education. Everywhere men respected him.

But no man loved him. He remained aloof—a martinet to those around him, demanding the same fidelity to work that he himself gave. His patients were objects of scientific interest, never of sympathy or friendship. "Few men," he would say, "are worth the trouble of curing. It is only what we may learn from them that justifies our efforts."

Six months ago, the great Planet Export Corporation, financed by European capital, had entered into a contract with him to use his hospital for their men. That had been a blow to the American colony, for they depended on Diaz rather than on physicians of their own nationality, and the Planet people were openly anti-American.

So it was with a feeling of more than ordinary interest that Thorpe looked up at the white-gowned figure in the doorway. The doctor's resemblance to his daughter was unmistakable. The same fine-tured olive skin, the same high, intelligent eyes. He was tall and very spare, with a wealth of graying hair, brushed straight back over his temples. A stethoscope hung about his neck, and a cigarette burned in his right hand. The fingers themselves were brown with nicotine. A distinguished-looking man in his early sixties.

Not even glancing at Drew, the doctor picked up the medical chart; then his eyes fell to the rugged face and the strong, columnar neck. He nodded to Gloria. "Here is a breed you cannot kill," he said in faultless English. "If we Latins were read headed we could conquer the world." To Thorpe he added, "I am Dr. Diaz. You may have heard of me."

"Everyone has heard of you," Drew answered simply.

The doctor bowed. "You are much better, no?"

"He mends. No bones are broken—the X-rays are clear. He has lost blood, but it is nothing. I do not believe he even needs a transfusion."

"You're sure there's no danger?"

"Why should I deceive you?"

"Can we go back tomorrow?"

"The doctor shook his head. 'Tomorrow you yourself will be as good as dead, but your companion—no. He must remain a day or two longer.'"

Progressive Mode Of Education Goes One Step Further

By JOHN L. SPRINGER
AP Features Writer

NEW YORK—Progressive education is being carried a big step further at Columbia university this summer.

It's the result of a project being conducted at the Horace Mann Lincoln school of Teacher's college. Open to children from six to 14, of all races and economic classes in the neighborhood, it operates on the theory that learning can, and should be, fun.

For three and a half hours every day, the youngsters are free to explore an entire field of studies and those of different ages and mental levels are permitted to work together. Dr. Ina Sartorius, principal, says that hasn't been tried before.

Saws And Chisels
The pupils can hack away with saws and chisels in a miniature carpenter shop, building anything that suits their fancy. In science labs, they can study the facts of guinea pig life or learn to build a wireless set. They can blow glass or experiment with bunsen burners.

Or they can model with clay, dangle marionettes, produce impromptu stage plays, or toss together a batch of cookies in a spotless kitchen.

Although all their activities are supervised by adult "counselors"—school teachers studying at the college—the children are permitted to choose any of those things that interest them.

New Step
That's another new step, Dr. Sartorius says, and an added innovation is that they are not required to live up to any standards but their own. They're encouraged to, but they can build one activity and move on to another whenever the spirit spurs them. The school's theory is that projects should be made so interesting that the youngsters will be anxious to keep at them until they are completed.

Officials at Teachers college say another purpose is to develop interest in many different subjects. They believe that children will learn more enthusiastically when no one tries to force them and when they can explore for themselves the pleasure of doing things.

Just An Experiment
Dr. Sartorius admits frankly it's an experiment. But she believes it will result in a fuller development of character and personality for the 250 pupils taking part.

And she says it's teaching the teachers a few things, too. The children come from diverse classes—Negro boys play side by side with daughters of professors—and many of the teachers from smaller cities are learning for the first time that there's no reason why different races can't get along together.

A heavy step in the corridor, and the door swung open to admit a man in his middle thirties. Deep of chest, thick neck set squarely on broad shoulders, he created the impression of unlimited power. The eyes were slate-gray, the short-cut hair dark blond; and as he moved into the light Drew saw the bullet-shaped head and two long saber cuts over the left cheek. He was dressed in khaki riding breeches, with heavy pigskin boots, and now he pulled off his glasses and began polishing them with a large handkerchief.

"Do I intrude?" Thorpe recognized the heavy voice he had heard outside the door; but the name, when Gloria Diaz introduced him, brought a quick start.

"This is Senor Franz Alter," she said, and the man bowed with military precision, the friendly smile revealing strong, even teeth.

Household Hints

If you keep the broiler door open a little when cooking there will be less smoke from the broiling food.

To keep kitchen furniture clean go over the wooden parts frequently with a cloth dipped in warm soapy water. Wipe dry and then apply a reliable furniture polish. This helps keep the wood in good condition as well as improving appearance.

When putting peanut butter into cake, cookie or bread mixtures, make sure that the peanut butter is well blended with rest of ingredients to prevent streaks through the batter. The peanut butter can be creamed with fat or blended with liquid called for in the recipe.

Spiced honey butter makes a delicious spread for toast, biscuits or pancakes. Mix together equal portions of butter and strained honey, heat, add ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon grated orange rind for each one-half cup of mixture. Serve warm, poured from small pitcher.

Wash spring onions, dry them thoroughly and pack in tight-capped jar. Keep them in the ice-box and you won't contaminate other foods.

If your stew meat seems tough, soak it in vinegar for several hours before cooking and it will become more tender.

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—We'd cry in our beer if only we could get some to cry in," is the ever-increasing moan that is going up in this city, which is in the midst of a beer shortage. Blame is placed partly on the vast number of war workers and military encampments in and about the city and partly on the curtailment of raw materials for making beer. Nearly every bar is equipped with a "No Beer, Sorry" sign which can be trotted out on quick notice.

Greater Awards In Production Sought

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Greater reward for production efficiency, initiative and ingenuity in the negotiation of war contracts, through "right pricing" instead of "close pricing," was proposed today by Rep. Dewey (R-Ill.), member of the house ways and means committee.

Dewey, who was assistant secretary of the Treasury in the Coolidge administration, gave this statement after writing the house naval committee opposing proposals that contract renegotiations allow reserves for post-war reconversion of industry.

He suggested government guarantees on loans by local banks to local industries as "the most practical solution to the reconversion problem."

In his letter Dewey proposed also a revision of the federal tax statutes to encourage investment of "risk capital" as a means of expanding industrial operations when the war ends.

"If 'risk capital' is to be induced to resume its historic place in American industrial development," he wrote, "our tax law should be so amended as to offer an incentive for people to risk investment in new and uncertain undertakings."

"Under existing taxes whatever gain is realized on a risk is promptly taxed away and the tax system gives little compensation whatever loss may be sustained."

The naval committee now is studying the effects of the renegotiation law. The ways and means committee will open hearings Sept. 9 to determine if revisions are needed.

HIGH numbers on the scale usually mean lower figures for life expectancy, insurance company statistics show. Since longevity probably is the best single index of "ideal" weight, the chart illustrates the healthiest poundages for women of small, medium and large frames. These figures are opposed to the "average" weights marked on most scales which list gains in later years. These gains are found neither necessary nor desirable. (International)

WAR VETS GIVEN JOB ASSURANCES

Re-employment Officer
Also Promises Special Training for Positions

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—Ohio war veterans have a promise of peacetime jobs after victory on world battlefronts.

Selective Service will see that each honorably discharged veteran receives the same job he left, a comparable or better position, or special training at government expense, asserts Capt. William E. Bartram, chief of the re-employment division.

The full power of the federal government backs up this promise, Bartram declared.

He reported the division already had helped rehabilitate more than 1,800 Ohio military personnel discharged because of physical disabilities.

"We first determine whether the person is physically able to handle his old job," Bartram explained. "If he is not, we see that he has an opportunity through vocational training and education, at government expense, to fit himself for a comparable or better job."

At the time of his discharge each member of the armed forces will will out an occupational and educational record, and will indicate his preference as to type of work and where he wishes to locate.

If he wants his former job, the employer is required by law to return it to him, with full seniority, rights, or to a position of like seniority, status and pay unless the employer's circumstances have so changed as to make it impossible or unreasonable to do so." If the employer refuses on the latter grounds, the ex-serviceman may appeal to the Ohio Re-employment division and even to the federal court without cost. He also has the right to appeal if he is discharged without reasonable cause within a year after he returns to his former job.

Bartram said each of the state's 330 draft boards had a re-employment committee to act as the personal representative of all returning veterans.

Sunday Was Home Run Day Among Major League Clubs

23 ROUNDTRIPPERS ARE CLOUTED BY STARS YESTERDAY

American League Accounts For 12; Detroit Hammers Yanks Twice

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sunday was home run day in the major leagues.

A total of 23 round trippers, including two with the bases loaded, were called to boost the home run production for the year to 678-340 in the American and 338 in the National League.

Twelve of the 23 circuit blunts were made in the American loop and six of the 12 were hammered at Detroit where baseball's largest crowd of the year—58,404—chortled as the Tigers walloped the first place New York Yankees twice, 12-0 and 8-3.

The Yanks committed the hard to believe total of 10 errors in the two games, seven in the opener. But misplays had nothing to do with the final outcome since the Tigers backed up effective pitching by Dizzy Trout and Tommy Bridges with a 27-hit attack that included six doubles and four homers.

One of Detroit's homers was Rudy York's 26th of the year and his 13th of the month.

A grand slam homer by Catcher Walker Cooper sparked the St. Louis Cardinals to a double win over the Boston Braves, 6-1 and 5-1.

Cooper's feat came in the ninth inning of the opener and helped Rookie Al Brazle to his fourth straight victory.

Dodgers Beat Pirates
Vince DiMaggio of Pittsburgh also socked a grand slam homer at Brooklyn, but it availed nothing since the Dodgers took both ends of a twin bill from the Pirates, 6-1 and 8-6.

Tony Cucinello socked a ninth inning homer that sent the Philadelphia Athletics down to their 17th straight defeat, only three short of the American League record. The four-base poke gave the Chicago White Sox a 3-2 victory in the afterpiece of a twin bill after Edgar Smith won the opener, 5-2.

Cincinnati tightened its hold on second place in the National League by beating the Phillies twice, 4-3 and 20-6. Elmer Riddle won his 16th game in the opener.

With their manager, Mel Ott, home in bed from an attack of the flu, the New York Giants took it on the chin twice from the Chicago Cubs, 4-2 and 4-3.

Cleveland beat the Boston Red Sox twice, 6-0 and 7-6 in 13 innings. Jack Salveson twirled a masterful two-hit shutout in the opener. Oris Hockett won the second game by singling with the bases full in the 13th.

The St. Louis Browns won their sixth in a row by beating Washington 8-5 in the first game of a doubleheader. The Senators ended the streak by winning the nightcap 4-2 in 10 innings.

Renewed Interest In Sports Shown By Coach Report

(By Associated Press)

BOWLING GREEN, Aug. 23—Although enrollment of boys in Ohio High schools has dropped 14.7 percent in the past three years, school officials anticipate renewed interest in post-war athletics. Bob Whitaker, Bowling Green state university football coach, reported today.

A survey of high school principals showed 120 of 179 queried predicting more athletic activity, with only 14 indicating increased emphasis on intramural sports.

Most wartime physical education classes, Whitaker said, have emphasized calisthenics, marching and obstacle courses, with boxing and wrestling started in half the state's Class A schools, and swimming required in all schools where facilities are available.

The survey showed the average physical education staff had dropped from three to two men, as a result of the draft, enlistment, and job transfers, but leading sports activities have been abandoned in only a few schools. Of 175 schools playing football in 1940, only one has dropped the game; basketball was dropped by two of 178, baseball by 30 of 104, tennis by 57 of 100.

REDS REST, WEARY AFTER RUN SPREE

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23—The Cincinnati Reds rested their weary legs today following a base running exhibition in the nightcap of Sunday's doubleheader.

The Reds squeaked through the first game, winning 4-3 by dint of brilliant relief pitching by Clyde Shoun and three fast double plays by Cincinnati's crackerjack infield.

The second contest turned out to be a debacle and when the six Philly pitchers ceased tossing and ducking, the scoreboard was 20-6, in favor of the Reds.

Twenty-two hits, good for a total of 37 bases were racked up by Deacon McKechnie's Athletics. During the two hours and 18 minutes, the Reds hit six doubles, three triples and a homer. Bert Haas accounted for three of the doubles and Eric Tipton authored the home-run.

The Reds opened up on Rookie Ray Conger in the second inning and by the time the Phillies made three putouts, six runs had crossed the plate. They added single runs in the third and fourth, and then smashed out seven corners in the fifth. Five more runs in the seventh finished the Reds' scoring for the day.

Ray Starr, who worked 14 innings the last time he went against the Phils, gave way to Joe Beggs when the Phils rose up in the fourth inning and scored four runs. Beggs was credited with the victory.

The Reds play their final game in the east this season Tuesday night against the Phils.

PLACENIA'S BATS ROUT LOTTERY OF BARBERTON 8 TO 2

Hrovatic Blanks Visitors In All But One Frame; Leads In Hitting

Lake Placenia continued its winning streak Sunday afternoon when it trounced the Barberton Lotteries, 8 to 2, on the lake grounds.

Heavy hitting and effective pitching by Hrovatic gave the home team an easy victory. Hrovatic led his team in batting by pounding out three singles and his control kept the visitors scoreless except in the eighth inning, when Right Fielder Jerina clouted a circuit drive.

Taking the lead with one run in each of the third and fourth innings, Placenia put the game on ice with a six-run attack in the sixth.

Akron Goodrich will play on the lake grounds next Sunday.

Plan Racing Events At Canfield Fair

CANFIELD, Aug. 23.—The Mahoning county fair is expected to make a grand return to harness racing, Sept. 3, 4, and 6, with 178 entries in eight early closing events and a guarantee of $16,500 in purses for 12 events.

One of the finest programs in the history of the Canfield fair, the card will attract the best horses of the year.

Canfield's return to the standardbred-bred will probably be welcome news to the "old guard" who seem to associate instinctively the trotter and pacer with the tempo and color of a county fair.

Last year the fair speed program was supplied by runners that met all kinds of difficulty in shipment from the Wheeling track, with the result that many campaigners advertised could not get here. That stressed the value of spring workout to the fans, and perhaps swayed the board to return to their first love—the standardbreds.

The full list of officials for the meeting is not complete. That it will contain the best in the business, is the promise of Dan Parish, a "front" man for the trotters and pacers. It will, in reality, be a Grand circuit meeting at a county fair.

Slated Abandonment Of Spring Football Practice Opposed

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23—It looks as if the proposed abandonment of spring football practice for Ohio High schools—to be voted on Sept. 7 by the scholastic principals—might run into a bit of opposition.

At the spring clinic session of the Ohio High School Football Coaches' association, the mentors rolled up a three-to-one vote in favor of outlawing spring workouts for the duration and then recommended the State High School Athletic association put the matter up to the final authorities, the principals.

Charles (Chuck) McClain, Bridgeport High coach, says the resolution was railroaded through the meeting of coaches, but Coach Jim Robinson of Canton Lehman, its sponsor and former prexy of the association denied this.

Two more of the state's top-flight mentors hopped into the scrap today, each favoring continuance of the spring sessions—and each asking that coaches urge their principal to vote that way in the Sept. 7 balloting.

The newcomers are Jim Lympier, of Galion, and Elwood Kammer, of Massillon's mighty Tigers. Each stressed the value of spring workout as conditioners for youngsters who may get into the war before the football season starts; the need for the added training due to the squads being made up of new boys; the inability to start early in the fall because so many squad members will hang on to defense jobs until the last possible minute; and the civic interest aroused by the early seasons.

"Spiv" Harris, sports editor of the Mt. Vernon News, wants everyone to know the High school "Jackets" of his home town face a pretty tough football campaign.

"There's only one soft spot on the schedule," Harris orates, "and that comes on Oct. 15—an open date."

The Jackets tangle with Wooster, Coshocton, Bucyrus, Marion, Washington Courthouse, Marion, Shelby and Ashland this season.

Paul Jenkins, who formerly coached those powerhouses at Portsmouth, is now boss of the footballers at Louisville, Ky., male high school, and he's looking for an Oct. 1 game at Louisville against an Ohio opponent. That's a lengthy trip, in these days of three-gallon gasoline stamps, but interested coaches may contact Jenkins at 2803 Grinstead drive, Louisville.

Meat Council Sees
Scarcity of Beef

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Unless the confidence of livestock producers in the future is restored the nation will face a serious shortage of beef this coming winter and spring, the Livestock and Meat council predicts.

"Of major importance," the council said, "is the threat to the supply of beef which will be needed urgently—perhaps even desperately —by American fighting forces this winter and spring."

The council, composed of livestock producing and meat packing associations, said the shortage was developing because corn belt farmers were not purchasing sufficient young cattle for feeding on farms and marketing later this year and early next year.

Corn belt farmers, it said, had reduced their buying of feeders because "uncertainty" created by government "regulations and orders" had made them unwilling to risk
"suffering severe financial losses."

The council urged that the government immediately put into more complete operation the principles of the meat management plan recommended by the livestock and meat industry.

Under the meat management plan, the council said, "flexible prices would result from effective control of consumer demand, through rationing and meat would be allowed to find its own price level."

The Nazis are believed to have taken the idea of using parachute troops in combat from the Russians, who demonstrated their use in war games in 1935.

State Labor Group
Opens Convention

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—The Ohio State Federation of Labor opened its 59th annual convention here today with delegate interest centered on national wartime legislation affecting strikes, wages and living costs.

Observers predicted the convention would advocate repeal of the Smith-Connally anti-strike law, revision of the "Little Steel" wage formula and rollback of prices of some living necessities.

Missing was talk of such factional rivalries as that of a year ago which led to election of Phil H.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—Martin
V. Coffey of Middletown, past commander of the Ohio American Legion, declared today that "former America Firsters" were promoting a movement in behalf of a negotiated peace.

The objective "would leave us with a peace the same as the peace from the first World war," he told the 59th annual convention of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

Hannah, Cleveland teamsters leaders, as secretary-treasurer to replace the veteran Thomas J. Connelly and installation of several Hannah backers in federation top offices.

The teamsters last night endorsed the youthful Hannah for governor of Ohio. Hannah is a Democrat.

Today's speaking program schedule included Lewis Gill, regional War Labor board director, and George A. Strain, state director of industrial relations.

The War Today
By DeWitt MacKenzie

Soviet Union and the Western Allies.

OBSERVERS generally seem to feel that one of the most likely explanations of the Russian move is that Moscow is taking this means of expressing resentment at the fact that the Anglo-American Allies haven't yet opened up that second land-front in western Europe. The Reds have been calling persistently for this front for more than a year, and recently the demand has been reiterated frequently.

It's a fair guess that Premier Stalin has resorted to the replacement of his star ambassadors partly as a rebuke to London and Washington. If this is so, it isn't just coincidence that these diplomatic changes come as the Roosevelt-Churchill conference is staged at Quebec.

It strikes me, however, that the thing cuts deeper than the second front. The war is rushing at express-train speed towards the moment when momentous political decisions will have to be made. New forms of government are to take the place of Fascism and Nazism.
There will be a realignment of boundaries in Europe and likely in Africa. All the indications are that Russia is going to demand territorial readjustments.

This column on numerous occasions has pointed out the probability that the Soviet union will emerge from this war as the dominant power in Europe, and maybe in the Far East as well. Daily she is emphasizing this likelihood by the power of her drive against the tremendous weight of the Hun armies.

TODAY Berlin admits the abandonment of Kharkov, one of the vital pivotal bases in the southern wing of the great German battle line. Hitler's whole eastern front is threatened. The Reds are slogging towards Berlin.

That picture certainly calls for an understanding among the Big Three. It calls for a political as well as a military agreement. It calls for prompt action.

What more likely than that this is the main reason for Stalin's blunt gesture? He is asking for a tabling of the cards.

Negro Youths Flee After Car Upsets Near Lisbon

LISBON, Aug. 23.—Sheriff George Hayes is investigating the abandonment of a wrecked car on the Earl Apple farm, one mile north of here on Route 45. Apple told the sheriff that several colored youths were in the car which left the highway at 6 a. m., went over an embankment and turned over in a field.

The men had left the scene and the car had been stripped by the time the sheriff arrived. Officials are checking the license, Z-68-F, to determine whether the car might have been stolen.

MRS. EDWARD DAY

LISBON, Aug. 23.—Mrs. Mary A.

Gives Chinese View

CAMP WHITE, Ore. — It would tend to get monotonous hearing
"jing schong quales sun son tey" every day, especially if you couldn't translate it.

At least that's the way barracks mates of Pvt. Jay Jon, Chinese, at Camp White, felt about the whole thing. In vain attempts to get a translation of Jon's constant sing-song his buddies subjected him to daily hazing ritual, including dumping him head first in GI can, nailing his shoes to the barracks floor, and a morning and evening hot-foot.

The soldiers know what it means now, but Jon didn't talk. It remained for another Chinese soldier to reveal that the mysterious words mean "Americans velly crazy people."

The original drawing for the insignia of the Army Chemical Warfare Service reputedly was made on a cigarette wrapper by an officer who is now a clergyman.

mission.

Has Paris Fashion

ALEXANDRIA, La.—Mrs. John Spence is probably the only woman in America wearing the latest fashions in Paris-made dresses.
Her husband, Lieutenant Spence of the Alexandria Army Air base, dropped in at the French capital
a few months ago, via parachute.
When he left, he had the new fashions tucked in his baggage.
How he left? That's a military secret.
